ANNOUNCEMENT—SESSION 1883-84.

The FORTY-THIRD regular course of lectures in the Missouri Medical College will begin on Monday, the 1st day of October, 1883, and continue five months.

The Spring Course will begin about the first of March and continue nearly three months. This Course will consist of clinics and didactic lectures.

Students taking these two courses will be enabled to pursue their studies through nearly eight consecutive months in the year. Attendance only upon the regular course of five months is obligatory.

The Commencement for Conferring Degrees will be held about the first of March.

In making the present announcement, the Faculty are happy to inform the many friends of the School that the size of the class in attendance has been steadily increasing. So great, indeed, has been the increase in the number of students in attendance that the Faculty recognized the necessity of extending their building to double its former capacity, so as to make available the abundant clinical and anatomical material at their command. The addition contains a large, airy and well-lighted clinical amphitheatre, furnished with most comfortable seats and every modern convenience, and capable of accommodating 500 students. This amphitheatre is in direct connection with St. John's Hospital, so that patients may be readily transported for operative procedures. A large dissecting room has also been added, so that from two to three hundred students may engage in dissections at the same time.

An inspection of the MISSOURI MEDICAL COLLEGE buildings will show that the accommodations are as extensive and as complete as those of any building for a like purpose in this country.

HOSPITALS CONNECTED WITH THE MISSOURI MEDICAL COLLEGE.

At the College Dispensary the daily clinics held by the different members of the Faculty are supplied with a large number and rich variety of cases.

St. John's Hospital adjoins the College Building, and is in charge of the order of "Sisters of Mercy," its medical management being exclusively controlled by the Faculty of the Missouri Medical College.

The hospital also contains private rooms, furnished, for "pay patients."

The St. Louis City Hospital is the largest hospital in the city. It contains four hundred and fifty beds, and is furnished with a commodious lecture and operating amphitheatre. The Missouri Medical College is represented in this institution by a complete corps of clinical teachers; and, inasmuch as it is the great receptacle for the pauper sick and injured of the city—several thousands being annually received into its wards and treated—the clinics held here are of the highest interest. The entire forenoon of every Monday and Thursday is devoted to them. The order of these clinics will be seen elsewhere.

This hospital is quite accessible from the neighborhood of the College, enabling students to reach it without unnecessary loss of time. A new street railroad has just been completed which closely connects the two institutions.

The Faculty have exclusive Medical control of the following Children's Asylums:

St. Bridget's Asylum, corner Twenty-sixth Street and Christy Avenue.

St. Joseph's, corner of Fifteenth and Clark Avenue; and

St. Mary's, corner of Tenth and Biddle Streets.

These institutions furnish our clinics with many cases illustrative of the Medical and Surgical diseases of children.

CLINICS.

As clinical instruction is now universally recognized to be absolutely indispensable, we would call especial attention to the clinical advantages we are now enabled to offer.

The Surgical Clinics at the new Clinical Amphitheatre and at St. John's Hospital, under the direct control of Prof. T. F. Prewitt, are very large and interesting. The greatest variety of surgical diseases may be observed during the session. Surgical operations are performed at almost every clinic.

The Surgical Clinic at the City Hospital, administered by Prof. H. Tuholske, is always abundantly supplied with material. This clinic is given twice a week, and in addition to the great variety of surgical diseases, the student sees every form of wound, the results of accident, etc. Under the present excellent management, it is so arranged that the class not only see the application of dressings, reduction of fractures and dislocations, but witness the progress and results of various plans of treatment.

The Medical Clinic at the College Dispensary is under the immediate charge of Dr. Justin Steer.

It is safe to say, also, that there are few forms of disease known to this latitude (and many peculiar to the tropics) that are not at some time during the course exhibited at the Clinics of Prof. Robinson—these being abundantly supplied from material in the wards of St. John's and the City Hospital.

INTERIOR OF NEW CLINICAL AMPHITHEATRE OF THE MISSOURI MEDICAL COLLEGE.

The Clinics for Diseases of Women are unusually large, such as can be found only in a large city. In addition to the large number of patients who attend the College Dispensary, there are always cases requiring operations in the wards of St. John's Hospital adjoining the College.

The Eye Clinics of Prof. Michel are abundantly supplied, and a great many operations are performed, all of the most important being repeated during the course.

The clinics for diseases of the Ear and Throat are conducted by Prof. Todd, with the view to afford the class the greatest possible amount of practical information in those special departments.

Prof. Kingsley gives Clinics upon Diseases of Children—a class of patients requiring particular methods of diagnosis and therapeutics.

Dr. Hardaway holds Clinics on Diseases of the Skin. All who desire have the privilege of attending this specially interesting and practical department of medicine.

It is apparent, then, from the number of available clinics, the abundance of material, and the prominence given to clinical lessons, that without neglecting the usual didactic lectures, the course is eminently practical, the aim of the Faculty being to prepare the student for the realities of his professional life; that he may leave his alma mater, not only well grounded in the principles of Medicine and Surgery, but that he may already have seen their practical application, may have witnessed the originals of the pictures so well portrayed by the ablest writers, and may have acquired a practical knowledge of the application of instruments and the therapeutic effects of remedies.

We do not hesitate to affirm that by close application and regularity in attendance, the student may, with the advantages we offer, condense into the period of two or three years the ordinary experience acquired by a practice of twelve or fifteen, so that he will be prepared, at the very threshold of his medical career, for the serious duties and responsibilities of his calling.

CLINICAL MEDICINE.

The course of this branch is so conducted that the students are afforded abundant opportunities for the practice of auscultation and percussion; while the application of the microscope and chemical tests, as aids in the diagnosis of disease, is made in the lecture room in all cases demanding their use. The use of the thermometer, and of the various forms of electricity, both as therapeutic and diagnostic agents, are demonstrated by the Professors of Clinical Medicine.

GYNÆCOLOGY.

Allusion has already been made to the unlimited resources at the command of Dr. Schenk who teaches this practical and important branch entirely by a system of Clinics. The class is divided into sections, which attend the clinics in rotation. Each senior student in his turn makes digital and instrumental examinations of patients, under the direction and supervision of the Professor. Students are requested to make diagnoses and suggest treatment.

This course familiarizes the student with the manipulation of the patients, the use of the instruments required, the appearance of the diseased organs, and the best method of making a correct diagnosis. Remarkable proficiency may thus be acquired at the end of a full pupilage.

OBSTETRICS

Is taught in the didactic lectures of Prof. Maughs, and the mechanism of natural labor fully illustrated upon the manikin. Particular attention is paid to operative midwifery in all its different phases, and the more advanced students have opportunities to attend in person on such cases under the guidance of the Professor of this department.

OPHTHALMOLOGY.

This branch is taught clinically, thus enabling the general practitioner to obtain a practical knowledge (diagnostic and therapeutic) of the more common affections of the eye, which he inevitably will be called upon to treat, and to recognize the more intricate and dangerous ones requiring the skilled attention of the Ophthalmologist. This department is abundantly illustrated at the College Ophthalmic Clinic, under the charge of Prof. Charles E. Michel, where students have an opportunity of examining for themselves, under the direction of the teacher, all of the various forms of disease and injury to which the eye is liable, and of witnessing a great variety of operations.

DISEASES OF THE EAR AND THROAT.

This is a branch of medicine apt to be much neglected by the profession, yet it concerns organs of the greatest importance. It will be taught chiefly clinically, the College clinics affording material for illustration and examination. The course will be made as practical as possible. Models (specially imported from Europe), anatomical preparations, and other necessary means of illustration will be used in the class room.

DISEASES OF CHILDREN.

At the Clinics for Diseases of Children the little patients are brought before the class for their inspection and examination. Opportunities are offered to students for making diagnoses and suggesting treatment.

DISEASES OF THE SKIN.

Dr. Hardaway gives clinical lectures on that very important, but usually neglected department of medicine, Diseases of the Skin. Microscopical demonstrations of the anatomy of the skin, and of the vegetable and animal parasites infesting it, is made a special feature of the course. He illustrates his lectures by numerous cases from the College Dispensary for Skin Diseases, together with the exhibition of a well-selected series of finely colored plates.

CLINICAL MICROSCOPY.

A course of instruction in Clinical Microscopy has also been provided for, by which every student will be enabled to familiarize himself with the use of the microscope for diagnostic purposes.

OBSTETRICAL AND GYNÆCOLOGICAL DEMONSTRATIONS.

A course of Obstetrical and Gynæcological demonstrations upon the cadaver has been inaugurated under the supervision of the Professor of Obstetrics. Every candidate for graduation will have an opportunity to perfect himself in a knowledge of the position and relation of all the pelvic viscera by actual inspection and manipulation. He will have the opportunity of studying the process of labor from the entrance of the fœtus into the superior strait to the completion of delivery. The difficulties and complications will be pointed out, and each student instructed in the use and application of the forceps.

INSANITY AND NERVOUS DISEASES.

In addition to the unrivalled clinical advantages for the illustration of this interesting department of medicine, enumerated under the head of "Hospitals," Prof. Bauduy delivers a didactic course, in which the anatomy and physiology of the nervous system are taught with special reference to its pathology.

Due consideration is given to those diseases most obscure and recently described.

PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE OF MEDICINE.

The Professors of this branch will make it their endeavor to condense and simplify the subject, so as to adapt it to the ready comprehension of the student. To this end purely theoretical matters will be to a great extent excluded, and the course will be devoted to the elucidation of fundamental principles, and to a concise system of their application.

PRACTICAL ANATOMY.

With a due appreciation of the importance of this fundamental branch of our science, the Professor of Anatomy will freely use specimens, charts, drawings, etc., to illustrate his lectures, thereby facilitating the understanding of the subject matter, and making the lectures at once more comprehensive and interesting.

"Human Anatomy" is a distinct branch of the general subject of Anatomy, and is studied in our schools, both independently and in its relations to the collateral physical sciences. It will be the aim of the Professor of this department to combine in "Comparative Anatomy" (which includes every type of animal organization) as much as will aid in the better understanding of human anatomy, without rendering the subject more complicated.

The Faculty desire to impress upon the students, both Seniors and Juniors, that it is not optional with them what portion of their time they devote to this branch, but that it is expected that they will attend the dissections in this school as long as they may be students thereof.

The Legislature of the State of Missouri has passed an act legalizing dissections, and allowing Medical Colleges to obtain material from charity hospitals. Anatomical material, therefore, will be plentiful, and furnished to the students at cost.

Two large dissecting rooms, well ventilated and lighted, are under the direct supervision of the Professor of Anatomy.

SURGICAL ANATOMY.

The Professors of Surgery will give due attention to the subject of Surgical Anatomy, performing all the ordinary operations on the cadaver.

PHYSIOLOGY.

The course of Physiology comprises lectures on the structure, histo-chemistry and functions of the different organs of the body. The lectures will be illustrated by diagrams, prepared specimens, experiments and vivisections.

HISTOLOGY.

The method adopted in teaching this important study is so simplified that it becomes pleasant and interesting to all, and is as easily understood as any other branch of medicine. To this end a complete series of photographic transparencies from the most perfect diagrams, together with a large number of micro-photographs of the various tissues and organs of the body, have, with much labor, been prepared by Prof. Michel, which, when projected on the screen from a lantern supplied with an oxy-calcium light, afford a most perfect means of demonstration.

The value of the microscope, for medical as well as histological purposes, is amply illustrated during the course; and toward the close of the session, by the same means, students will have the opportunity of seeing the blood in circulation.

PATHOLOGICAL ANATOMY.

A modification by disease of the histological elements of tissues and organs constitutes the study of pathological anatomy; it is therefore deemed expedient to teach these two in conjunction so as to enable the student to easily and at once contrast the normal with the diseased condition. In addition to this, pathological anatomy in its special relation will be dwelt upon by the respective Professors of the several practical branches.

Post-mortem examinations will be frequently made during the course.

CHEMISTRY.

A few introductory lectures on aërostatics, heat, light, electricity and magnetism will be given, copiously illustrated by experiments, and models and apparatus of very superior modern construction. These will be followed by lectures on inorganic chemistry, embracing the most important metalloids and metals, especial prominence being given to those furnishing remedial agents and poisons. A succinct outline of organic chemistry, a knowledge of which is becoming daily more and more indispensable, will conclude the course. Specimens and experiments will be shown in sufficient abundance to thoroughly illustrate the subjects taught.

MATERIA MEDICA AND THERAPEUTICS.

In this department attention is given to Hygiene, Dietetics, and those remedial agents which are not medicines proper, as well as the ordinary drugs and medicines. Particular attention will be given to the physiological and therapeutical properties of remedial agents, their preparation and combination for administration. Instruction in prescription writing will also form a part of the course.

MEDICAL JURISPRUDENCE.

Prof. Bauduy will give a few practical lectures during the session on Medical Jurisprudence, the object being to give some general directions for the guidance of the Physician when engaged in Medico-Legal inquiries, or under examination in Courts of Law, especially in cases relating to insanity.

PRACTICAL CHEMICAL LABORATORY OF THE MISSOURI MEDICAL COLLEGE,

CHEMICAL LABORATORY.

THE LABORATORY established for the practical training of students in chemistry has proven such a success, that the facilities have been increased and a graded course introduced, so that students having attended one session, can enter on more advanced work during their second course. The mere listening to lectures, however well they may be illustrated by experiments, does as little suffice for acquiring a knowledge of chemistry, as anatomical lectures would make a good anatomist were they not supplemented by dissections. The difficulty of mastering chemistry, which is so often a matter of dread to the student, is in a greater measure obviated by the practical exercises in the laboratory, and the acquisition of considerable knowledge and practical experience in this important science is rendered comparatively an easy task.

Students learn to make analyses of the principal metals and acids, so as to become competent to detect adulterations; also of the most important poisons, pathological products, constituents of urine, &c. Apparatus and chemicals are provided, for the use of which the fee charged suffices barely to cover actual cost of material and breakage.

While this course is optional, it is hoped that students will avail themselves fully of the opportunity thus afforded to make their studies more thorough and at the same time less difficult.

The fee for this course is $10.

SPRING COURSE.

In the Spring Course the clinical advantages are in no way inferior to those of the regular term; while many subjects of the didactic course, not treated of during the Winter Term, have been selected for special consideration for this course. It begins immediately after the termination of the Regular Course, and continues nearly three months. Fee for the entire course, $20. This sum will be deducted from the fees of students attending the following regular Winter Course.

It is to be noted that attendance upon the regular Winter session only is required of students, and that the Spring session can not be accepted in the place of one or the other of the two regular courses required for graduation.

The Faculty instituted the Spring Course for the purpose of extending the time of study, although, as stated, leaving it optional with the student to take advantage of the same.

St. Louis being one of the largest cities of the United States, it is evidently a great privilege to the industrious and ambitious student to have such an opportunity for uninterrupted work in the different branches of medicine, since only in a great city can there be ample facilities for clinical instruction, or the treatment of disease at the bedside. No practitioner of medicine will hesitate to affirm that the importance of the clinical method of instruction CAN NOT BE OVERESTIMATED, and that the medical student should embrace every opportunity thus offered for gaining a PRACTICAL INSIGHT into the trying duties of his chosen calling.

LOCATION

COLLEGE AND ST. JOHN'S HOSPITAL.

The college is situated at the northeast corner of Lucas Avenue and Twenty-third Street, and St. John's Hospital is immediately adjacent, on Twenty-third and Morgan Streets. It is easily reached from the "Union Depot," where all trains coming to the city stop, by walking two squares west to Fourteenth street; there take the street cars going north to Washington Avenue; there take the "Washington Avenue cars" to Twenty-third Street, where you are within one square of the College. The Janitor is always ready to direct students to a boarding house.

Those who come into the city upon any of the railroads which cross the Mississippi River upon the bridge, will remember to get off at Washington Avenue, before the train enters the tunnel, when they can take the Washington Avenue cars two blocks distant.

Immediately upon their arrival in the city, students should call upon the Janitor of the College, who will promptly assist them in procuring a boarding-house; they need not stop at a hotel unless they prefer to do so. Boarding and lodging can be had convenient to the College and Hospitals, at from $4 to $5 per week.

REQUIREMENTS

DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF MEDICINE.

1. The candidate must be twenty-one years of age and of good moral character.
2. He must have attended two full courses of lectures, the last of which must have been in this institution; the first may have been in some other respectable school.
3. He must have attended the dissections and clinics in this school as long as he was a student thereof.
4. He must, by the 1st of February, notify the Dean of his intention to become a candidate, and pay his fees for examination. He shall also furnish to the Dean, at the same time, satisfactory evidence of having complied with all the preliminary requisites.
5. He must pass a satisfactory examination by the Faculty.
6. Graduates of other reputable schools, who are candidates for the Degree, will be expected to make application to the Dean at least one month before commencement, matriculate, pay the examination fee and pass a satisfactory examination.

No examination for degrees will take place before the close of the session.

A preliminary examination will be held in accordance with the rules of the State Boards.

While attendance during two sessions only is required, the Faculty would advise students to attend three, and offer as an inducement the tickets for the third year free of charge.

LIST OF TEXT-BOOKS.

- Surgery*—Gross, Holmes, Bryant, Billroth, Hamilton, Thompson, on Urinary Organs.
Practice of Medicine—Flint, Niemeyer, Aitkin.
Materia Medica—Bartholow, Farquharson, National Dispensatory.
Physiology—Dalton, Foster, Flint, Carpenter, Kirke.
Chemistry—Roscoe, Wurtz, Bloxam, Fownes, Norton's Natural Philosophy.
Chemical Laboratory—Beilstein (Curtman's new edition); (for reference: Fresenius Classen).
Toxicology—Taylor, Beck.
Pharmacy—U. S. Pharmacopeia, Parrish.
Obstetrics—Hodge, Playfair, Lusk.
Diseases of Women—Thomas, Emmet, Barnes.
Diseases of Children—Smith, Meigs & Pepper, Vogel, Day.
Anatomy—Gray, Allen, Holden's (Dissector).
Clinical Medicine—Barclay's Medical Diagnosis, Da Costa's Medical Diagnosis, Tanner's Clinical Medicine.
Nervous Diseases—Bauduy, Hammond, Todd, Rosenthal.
Insanity—Maudsley, Bucknill, Tuke.
Histology—Frey, Tyson's Cell Doctrines.
Ophthalmology—Soelberg Wells, Carter.
Otology—St. John Roosa.
Diseases of the Throat—Mackenzie.
Dermatology—Hardaway, Duhring, Hardaway on Vaccination.

FEES.

For each Course of Lectures.....	$60 00
Matriculation Fee (Good until the following March).....	5 00
Admission to the Dissecting Room (material plenty and at cost).....	10 00
Examination for Degree (not returnable).....	30 00
Admission to Hospitals.....	FREE.
The third and all subsequent courses.....	FREE.

No Fee charged for Graduation or Diploma.

The fees must be paid promptly at the beginning of the term as the tickets will be required to be exhibited after the expiration of the second week of session.

Physicians residing in or passing through the city are cordially invited to attend the lectures and clinics of the College.

Graduates of this school may enjoy the privileges of attending the lectures and clinics free of charge.

Students may attend the lectures of one or more Professors on paying the Matriculation Fee, and purchasing single tickets at $10 each.

Students may select their seats in the lecture rooms when they take their tickets, or the Secretary will select for them, on receipt of the matriculation fee, $5, previous to the opening of the session; seats thus taken, if not occupied by the end of the second week of the winter term, will be forfeited and assigned to students who are present to occupy them.

Students on arriving in the city, should call on the Janitor, the Dean or the Secretary at the College, N. E. Corner of Twenty-third Street and Lucas Avenue.

For further information address with stamp or postal card enclosed.

List of Alumni of the Missouri Medical College,

FROM 1841 TO 1883.

THE MISSOURI MEDICAL COLLEGE was organized in 1840 under the name of "Medical Department of Kemper College." During the winter of 1845 the Faculty entered into arrangements with the State University, and for ten years the name of "Medical Department of the University of the State of Missouri" was borne by the institution. In 1855, by a change of the charter, the present name was adopted.

[N. B.—A portion of the records of the College having been lost during the late war, the present list is made up from the best sources the Faculty can command, but must of necessity be incomplete, as the names of several years are missing. The friends and alumni of the institution are earnestly requested to notify the Faculty of any omissions or errors coming to their knowledge, and also to keep them advised of change of location.]

The Faculty would be obliged to any one furnishing catalogues back of the year 1870.
